

Authorities test Red Bull energy drink

DUBAI: Red Bull, the popular energy drink, will be tested across the UAE for traces of cocaine. The General Secretariat Municipalities issued a circular to all Food Control sections and departments on Sunday. The move came after reports poured in from Germany, Taiwan and Austria that said laboratory analysis showed a tiny amount of cocaine in Red Bull drinks. The Red Bull products under question are Red Bull Energy Drink, Red Bull Cola and Red Bull Sugar Free.